Special Abilities

- Font of Magic; Eyes of the Dark; Strengthened by the Grave; Hound of Ill Omen; | Spellcasting: 1d6 - 5; 2 - 3; 3 - 3; 4 - 3; 5 - 2 | Breath Weapon: 1d6 Poison

Special Equipment

- Cloak of Protection +3
- "Staff of Defense simple weapon, rare (requires attunement), bludgeoning, versatile (1d8). This staff is hollow, yet is as strong as oak. It weighs 3 pounds. You must be attuned to the staff to gain its benefits. While holding the staff, you have a +1 bonus to your Armor Class. The staff has 10 charges, which are used to cast the spells within it. With the staff in one hand, you can use your action to cast one of the following spells from the staff if the spell is on your class's spell list": mage armor (2 charges) or shield (2 charges). No charges are required. The staff regains 1d6 + 1 expended charges each day at dawn. When you expend the staff's last charge, roll a d20. If the roll is 1, the staff shatters and is destroyed. Versatile. This weapon can be used with one or two hands. A damage value in parentheses appears with the property—the damage value the weapon is used with two hands to make a melee attack."

ROLEPLAYING

BACKGROUND STORY

With nothing but selfish goals, Wurek the local guild of Magic Arts and, with his exceptional cunning and charisma, worked into an internship with the castellan at the castle. Using his raw magicks and ability to influence others, he ousted the castellan by convincing a noble family they served that he was a foreigner looking to undermine their power. Gaining the trust of the royals over several generations, Wureok has, at least on the surface, appeared to be an exemplary citizen. He watches over the castle and surrounds it with great attention to detail; especially when it comes to collecting taxes and scutage. Wureok has organized a growing rebellion among the peasants and townsfolk, using the pressures he himself applies to turn the peasants into his benefactor, then twisting the stories of their uprisings in reports to his benefactor. He presents further reason for his position by further exploitation of the common-folk and royal family to further insulate themselves from the outside world.
