

RASKOLNIK

young adult elf
neutral
Level 1 rogue

Pronouns: he/him
Occupations: Law Student
Armor Class 12
Hit Points 5 (TODO Hitdice)
Speed 30.

STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS
11	15	10	17	9

CHA

13

Saving Throws
TODO Saving Throws
Skills

Proficiencies TODO

Damage Immunities
TODO Damage Immunities
Condition Immunities
TODO Condition Immunities
Senses TODO Senses
Languages Human Elvish Halfi
Adjectives ,

Special Abilities

Special Equipment

- ["A pouch"]
- hidden under the wooden sidewalk
- containing 17 sp
- 3 gp
- and a worn old love letter to woman
- torn in two.

Combat Tactics

Actions

Factions

ROLEPLAYING

Introduction

A dishevelled young elf sto over a board he's lifted fro the wood sidewalk. He star to face you with bloody ha

Appearance

Grimy, unkempt, but with a glow of pride, intelligence erudition that shafts throu the coils of poverty.

Expressions

"Loathsome, harmful old moneylender"; "A thousand rabbits don't make a horse a thousand suspicions are evidence."

RASKOLNIK

young adult elf
neutral
Level 1 rogue

Pronouns: he/him
Occupations: Law Student
Armor Class 12

2500 x 3235
↔ ↑

Mannerisms

Sweating, shaking, cold, te chattering. Brownian eyes.
Fists clench, unclench, rep
Licks his lips repeatedly.

Motivations

Proud; feels that the world upside-down, bottom-feed on top, and great men (like Raskolnik) live in poverty.

Passions

Knows the local legal code
inside-out; also local histor and legends. Observant; kn
the daily patterns of locals

Secrets

BACKGROUND STORY

Raskolnik was born to a low-ranking court bureaucrat father who was intelligent to the point of unfulfilled dreams, and a moderately wealthy mother, whose inheritance was spent before her children knew the words "dice", "wine" or "whore".

| Raskolnik's father was inadvertently trampled by a noble coach when Raskolnik was a young child. His mother, now without income and living in poverty in a grand manse among the snow elves, had little choice but to sell the remnants of her inheritance and take up residence in the squalid slums with the orcs and goblins of the north.

Raskolnik's mother said, on more than one occasion, "We elves are not known for helping the downtrodden, even our own kind."

| Raskolnik excelled at his studies and was noticed by an orcish ambassador to the north for winning second prize in the "Essaies from the Ghetto" competition. His prose and unorthodox, even mildly disturbing, thesis had captured the imagination of the fiery, blunt orc.

| The orcish ambassador gave Raskolnik's mother a small sum to pay for his studies in law, on the promise that she would send him to "anything but a pale-skinned school of fascist pig-donkeys." Raskolnik's mother, partly from gratitude to her son's orcish benefactor, and partly from a desire to escape at her own culture's complete detachment from her financial predicament, readily agreed.

Raskolnik went to a law school run by halflings. (When the orcish diplomat found out, he flew into a rage. He had envisioned a green-skinned school for green-skinned law. But that is another story shall not be told here.) | His studies were spectacularly

2500 x 3235
Image Dummy

Hit Points 5 (TODO Hit Speed 30.

STR 11 ()

DEX 15

CON 10

INT 17

WIS 9

CHA 13

Saving Throws

TODO Saving Throws

Skills

Proficiencies

Damage Immunities

TODO Damage Immunities

Condition Immunities

TODO Condition Immunities

Senses

TODO Senses

Languages

Human Elvish Halfling ,

Adjectives ,

Special Abilities

Special Equipment

• ["A pouch"]

• hidden under the w sidewalk

• containing 17 sp

• 3 gp

• and a worn old love woman

• torn in two.

Combat Tactics

Actions

Factions

Image Dummy

ROLEPLAYING

Introduction

A dishevelled young elf stoops over a board he's lifted from the wood sidewalk. He stands to face you with bloody hands.

Appearance

Grimy, unkempt, but with a glow of pride, intelligence and erudition that shafts through the coils of poverty.

Expressions

"Loathsome, harmful old moneylender"; "A thousand rabbits don't make a horse and a thousand suspicions aren't evidence."

Mannerisms

Sweating, shaking, cold, teeth chattering. Brownian eyes. Fists clench, unclench, repeat. Licks his lips repeatedly.

Motivations

Proud; feels that the world is upside-down, bottom-feeders on top, and great men (like Raskolnik) live in poverty.

Passions

Knows the local legal code inside-out; also local history and legends. Observant; knows the daily patterns of locals.

Secrets

studies were spectacularly successful. The halflings considered Raskolnik one of t own. But the humans were ne adopt him. | During a multi-ra rhetoric competition in a prominent northern city, Raskolnik won second place overall. The human judge tool him aside after the debate an told him that he had the pote to be a great leader, a great statesman. The human asked written essaie that he could t to his superiors in the middle lands, and in return, the huma would pave the path to a fulfil career in the human legal sys | Raskolnik submitted his mag opus to the human, sending a 20,000 word thesis on the nat of The Great Man to his woulc human benefactor. The huma published it under his own na and went on a book-signing to only to be murdered by an orc his yacht in the south (though that tale of greed, debaucher and violence is another story, shall not be told here.) | Raskolnik, blissfully unaware his human would-be-benefact fate, continued to wait, hopef for word from the human. He finished law school. He sold w he owned and borrowed mone from a disreputable lender. H tried valiantly to support his mother and younger sister. | Raskolnik's sister agreed to n a rich, abusive man. Raskolnil became desperate. | Meanwhi word had -- unbeknownst to Raskolnik himself -- gotten ou that he was the actual author the human's stolen manuscrip Raskolnik was known only by name -- not by appearance -- be an ubermensch, a believer Great Men who are justified in trampling the Inferior. | Soon, Raskolnik will discover that th local constabulary have read treatise, and suspect him of murdering the moneylender in order to pave the way to Greatness. | Raskolnik is riddl with guilt, not entirely for kill the woman (he partly believe deserved it), but also for not being Great like he should be not being able to carry throug with his own ambitions, for ne being able to Act in the way t Great Men Act. | Now Raskoln nervous, on edge, easily frightened, secretive, mysteri defensive, yet also desperate seeking someone to whom he confess. | And he still has no money to save his sister from what Raskolnik sees as a terrr terrifying union.

PERSONALITY

Raskolnik was born to a low-ranking court bureaucrat fath who was intelligent to the poi unfulfilled dreams, and a moderately wealthy mother, whose inheritance was spent before her children knew the words "dice", "wine" or "whor". | Raskolnik's father was inadvertently trampled by a coach when Raskolnik was a young child. His mother, now without income and living in poverty in a grand manse among the snow elves, had little choice but to sell the remnants of her inheritance and take up residence in the squalid slums with the orcs and goblins of the north. Raskolnik's mother said, on more than one occasion, "We elves are not known for helping the downtrodden, even our own kind." | Raskolnik excelled at his studies and was noticed by an orcish ambassador to the north for winning second prize in the "Essaies from the Ghetto" competition. His prose and unorthodox, even mildly disturbing, thesis had captured the imagination of the fiery, blunt orc. | The orcish ambassador gave Raskolnik's mother a small sum to pay for studies in law, on the promise that she would send him to "anything but a pale-skinned school of fascist pig-donkeys." Raskolnik's mother, partly from gratitude to her son's orcish benefactor, and partly from a distaste at her own culture's complete detachment from her financial predicament, readily agreed. Raskolnik went to a law school run by halflings. (When the orc diplomat found out, he flew into a rage. He had envisioned a green-skinned school for green-skinned law. But that is another story shall not be told here.) | His studies were spectacularly successful. The halflings considered Raskolnik one of their own. But the humans were never able to adopt him. | During a multi-racial rhetoric competition in a prominent northern city, Raskolnik won second place overall. The human judge took him aside after the debate and told him that he had the potential to be a great leader, a great statesman. The human asked him to write a written essaie that he could take to his superiors in the middle lands, and in return, the humans would pave the path to a fulfilling career in the human legal system. | Raskolnik submitted his magnum opus to the human, sending a 20,000 word thesis on the nature of The Great Man to his would-be human benefactor. The human published it under his own name and went on a book-signing tour only to be murdered by an orc on his yacht in the south (though that tale of greed, debauchery and violence is another story, shall not be told here.) | Raskolnik, blissfully unaware of his human would-be-benefactor's fate, continued his studies.

fate, continued to wait, hoped for word from the human. He finished law school. He sold what he owned and borrowed money from a disreputable lender. He tried valiantly to support his mother and younger sister. | Raskolnik's sister agreed to marry a rich, abusive man. Raskolnik became desperate. | Meanwhile word had -- unbeknownst to Raskolnik himself -- gotten out that he was the actual author of the human's stolen manuscript. Raskolnik was known only by name -- not by appearance -- to be an ubermensch, a believer in Great Men who are justified in trampling the Inferior. | Soon, Raskolnik will discover that the local constabulary have read his treatise, and suspect him of murdering the moneylender in order to pave the way to Greatness. | Raskolnik is riddled with guilt, not entirely for killing the woman (he partly believes she deserved it), but also for not being Great like he should be, for not being able to carry through with his own ambitions, for not being able to Act in the way that Great Men Act. | Now Raskolnik is nervous, on edge, easily frightened, secretive, mysteriously defensive, yet also desperate seeking someone to whom he can confess. | And he still has no money to save his sister from what Raskolnik sees as a terribly terrifying union.