ROLEPLAYING

The chaos of the bustling tavern is contrasted by the composed keep behind the bar. She pushes a tankard towards you.

A beautiful but clearly weathered half-elf with noticeable battle scars. Sleek blond mylar hair. Deep brown eyes.

"The wild ain't so wild; depending on who you are"; "The traditions of the trees tell us where we mortals truly belong"

Mannerisms

PERSONALITY

The great battles of the Duplicity [any significant historical war] witnessed the warring of races over the sovereignty of nations. While elves and humans were on tenuous grounds with regards alliances and the mixing of races largely frowned upon, the increasing lack of militia led to unranked officers looking the other way when enlisting half-bloods. The Sylvan elves, each tribe aligned with different unique aspects of their natural environment, drew from various natural forces. Katerina's tribe allied with Treants and their i Raised by Druids of the circle Selune [or a similar moon God/dess], her tribe stood fanatically against the forces sweeping across the wildland Katerina enlisted in the army of allied humans and elves and fought valiantly in the long war. When various treaties were eventually reached and a modicum of peace blanketed the region, her people were less isolated and had folded themselves into the broader cultures of the region. Her experiences in the war still resonated and her distaste for other races lingered.

heavily traumatized, her psyche remains conflicted between the traditions deeply embedded in her being and the desire to achieve her own imagined goal of establishing a Sylvan Kingdom that celebrates the trees and creations of nature. while abandoning the tinkering with technologies and dark magick
