

Age: older adult
Race: half-elf
Pronouns: she-her
Occupation:

- Merchant

Class: rogue
Level: 5
Alignment: neutral good
Languages:

- Common
- Elven
- Dwarven
- Thieves' Cant

Factions:

- Regional Merchants' Guild
- Thieves' Guild - Regional

Adjectives:

- Lithe

Armour Class: 16
Hit Points: 30
Speed: 30

STR 10	DEX 16	CON 10	INT 15	WIS 16	CHA 18
Saving Throws TODO Saving Throws

Role-Playing

Improv

Introduction: A half-Elven woman in semi-fine clothes overlooks market booths directing the chaos. "You there! Business or pleasure?"
Appearance: Strangely muscular for old age. Tabard in heraldic colors & appropriate symbols of Merchants' guild. Long silver hair.
Expressions: "Schemers won't police 'emselves"; "Bookkeeping and accounts. That's the future."; "Gotta protect against companies!"
Mannerisms: Assertively directs buyers and sellers. Always jingles a handful of coins.

Acting

Motivations: To ensure that the Regional Thieves' Guild has more control over the Merchants' Guild
Passions: Unionization. Bringing the market to the people.
Secrets: She is subverting the Merchants' guild in an attempt to bring it under control of the Regional Thieves' Guild.
Vulnerabilities: Libil is vulnerable to any sight or talk of exploitation. It will send her into a frenzy that she will struggle to control.

Skills:

- Persuasion; Perception; Thieves' Tools; Intimidation;

Special Abilities: Ear for Deceit, Eye for Deceit, Insightful Fighting, Uncanny Dodge, Cunning Action, Sneak attack
Attacks: Longbow | Dagger
Combat Tactics: Will almost exclusively withdraw to a distance and use her longbow.

Special Equipment:

- Circlet of Persuasion - This silver headband grants a +3 competence bonus on the wearer's Charisma-based checks.

Story

The high elves of the Northern Expanse have remained stoic in their pursuit of peace with the surrounding Nations. This is exemplified in their various treatises.

Hailing from this environment sounds near idyllic and its peoples destined for greatness in politics. Well, perhaps only half of this is true.

Over her 150 years, for sure, Libil has achieved political prominence in the regional Merchants's Guild. She has been an important figure in the negotiations between the various increasingly expanding trading companies that threatened to put a stranglehold on individual merchants. Libil established, nearly single-handedly, the regulations for these companies and the available guilds for the individual merchants on the ground.

Libil's upbringing among the purportedly peaceful High Elves should bespeak the formation of a law-abiding character. Her knowledge of their inner-workings led her astray from this destiny. Instead, Libil learned that the High Elves, out of survival or desperation, had been conducting various unethical surgical strikes against surrounding Nations; unethical because they betrayed the expectations of the treaties and were kept out of the public eye. This led Libil to pursue the art of inquisition, of unearthing the truth of a situation, and drove her in a long-standing bid as High Journeyman of the Regional Thieves' Guild. Instead of abiding by laws that seemed to only mask the horrible truths that underpin the appearance of peace, She seeks to achieve true peace and stability for 'boots on the ground' through the unionization structures that guilds bring.

She can often be found in the busiest marketplaces of large towns and cities, directing traffic, solving squabbles, and enlisting merchants to join the guild (both Merchants' and Thieves' (the latter often referenced, instead, as 'Workers' Guild', or 'Commoners' Association', or something of that ilk)).