ROLEPLAYING

Introduction

Either through introduction from one of his lieutenants, by infiltrating his manor, or by committing a big enough crime

Appearance

Broad shoulders, no neck. Big, powerful. Huge hands. Acne scars, dark, thinning hair, olive skin

Expressions

"You may bow to the queen, but I run these streets"; "I know what it's like to be poor and hungry. Rich is better."

Mannerisms

Constantly looking to physically dominate those in his presence. iron like handshakes, hard slaps on the back, etc

Motivations

Amassing wealth to validate his intellect to the city's elite and getting out of his deal with the Lich Ryxiltan

Passions

Varun collects rare art, books and other symbols of culture and locks them away simply so aristocrats can use them

Secrets

Varun is one of very few who know that the Bakerfield family is now run by a Lich who lives across the continent using the family's resources to further his quest to become a god. Varun also knows where all of the bodies are buried (metaphorically because he has his finger on the pulse of the city, and literally because he put a lot of the bodies there.)

BACK STORY

Varun developed a certain attitude towards the streets of the shantytown cosmopolis [or ancient city.] Those who lived in their shadows that the Supreme Being believes the book learning makes up for and street-smarts. Furthermore, he can't win words, he can't win his fists, or "Widowmaker".

As a natural leader, he has always been drawn to him. His charisma and ruthlessness to rise through the criminal underworld ready to start his own guild, the Bakerfield. From there, he led the other guilds in wars with victory until he and the only street leader. During his rise to victory, Varun, a Lich named Ryxiltan, exchanged for his guild's earnings. He used his magic to increase Varun's leadership position as giving him a weak-minded whenever he was the servant of no easy task. Success, Varun made and to get himself
