up a stand in the market or even outside of an inn or tavern. She lugs a small cart with her alchemy set and sales stand everywhere she goes. A party can run into her just about anywhere trying to sell her tinctures, lotions, potions, and ointments.

Appearance

A small feminine copper dragonborn with unusual horns and scales that glitter; dresses very flamboyantly, with tapestry-like cloaks and cap es that flow over her limbs and tumble to the floor

Expressions

"Mix and match, there's a good batch!"; "Tinctures and solvents beat diplomacy every time"

Mannerisms

Flamboyant and dramatic gestures; Smiles and laughs often; Likes to spit small globules of her acid breath into the air and catch it in her mouth with a smile, a "ta-da", and a dramatic gesture;

Motivations

To promote the power and instrumentality of alchemy as a solution to everything from poverty and hunger to disease and even death itself.
