ROLEPLAYING

One market booth is especially eye-catching with foreign weapons, armor and curios. "Hail. I bring you to the East."

Well polished red and yellow Karuta. Long grey-green hair in pony-tail. Fil down tusks. Bright blue eyes.

"Nothing is equal. Our duty is to make it so through disciplined action"; "Tradition over ambition. Always."

Poised and stoic. Gentle gesticulation when necessary. Naginata is an extension of his gestures.

To expose the West to the East. To reveal the importance of tradition.

Eastern weapons, armors, equipment, clothing, and curios.

BACKGROUND STORY

Orcish raids certainly aren't limited to Western Realms. As the orcs expand their grip on the land through broad diasporas above and below ground, the far-flung have experienced similar challenges. Plunder, pillage, bloodshed, and, unfortunately, rape, are among the impacting factors.

Reed is a product of these raids. Raised in a semi-noble house of militant samurai, Reed's natural abilities became apparent to his family and their samurai masters. He was a natural fit for their training and military crusades.

Over time, Reed's clan spread far and wide in their explorations and claims to various regions. His soul has become that of a wanderer. Make no mistake, however, because Reed is not a Ronin. He stands devout in his devotion to his family and their military objectives, acting as a diplomat, messenger, and trader of their fine goods.

Often receiving mass imports from his home, he busies his days refining and sophisticating his market booth and managing his inventory to best provide an authentic experience of his culture.
